

FREMEDICA TEAMS UP WITH JEFF BARNES AS OUR CHIEF MARKETING OFFICER

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA – November 7, 2022 – Frequency Exchange Corp. (“Frequency Exchange” or the “Company”) (TSXV: FREQ) is pleased to announce that its wholly-owned subsidiary, FREmedica Technologies Inc. (“FREmedica”), a Canadian Wellness Company, has teamed up with Jeff Barnes, founding partner of the Angel Investor Network (“AIN”) to be our acting Chief Marketing Officer (CMO) to launch NIKKI, a Frequency Delivery System you wear, that supports recovery from wellness and performance issues while you sleep.

NIKKI was launched in Canada, USA, and Europe.

Special offer ends December 1, 2022, when retail pricing goes into effect with a $10 monthly subscription for the additional frequencies.

FREmedica recently retained Angel Investors Network (AIN) www.angelinvestorsnetwork.com to support the launch of their NIKKI, a Frequency Delivery System that you wear because of AIN’s long history with helping young technology companies develop strong go-to-market strategies.

“Our goal is to help FREmedica succeed in selling several thousand units right out of the gate,” stated AIN CEO Jeff Barnes. “We’re very excited to help bring this technological innovation to the market to help more people live healthier lives.”

Mr. Barnes explains that a successful launch of a product is one of the most surefire ways to gain the eyes and ears of investors around the country, which is the goal of many of their clients.

“We are very pleased to have AIN helping with our marketing and launch strategies, and thus positioning us favorably in the market,” stated FREmedica’s CEO Stephen Davis. “We know that by selling through our initial run of NIKKI devices will increase our value in the marketplace and really cement our place in the market as a leading wellness technology company.”

Bioenergetics-based NIKKI emits frequencies that help restore cellular communication function within the body’s network of 37 trillion cells. NIKKI works at night to overcome physical and emotional trauma experienced during the day. In daytime mode, NIKKI offers a range of frequencies chosen to complement the day’s issues and activities; from a stressful merger meeting to running a half-marathon.

A $250 NIKKI early-adopter pre-release includes the NIKKI Gold package, with the device, lifetime access to the Night-Time frequency package and a one-year subscription to the Energy Boost, Stress and Anxiety, Pain Relief and Travel frequency programs at a saving of $120. The offer also includes three bonus frequency programs: Sleep, Virus and Bacteria and Immune Boost.
