

FREQUENCY EXCHANGE AND GETHEALTHY.STORE LAUNCH “NIKKI” WELLNESS TECHNOLOGY INTO 1,000+ CLINIC STORES

For Immediate Release

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA – December 5th, 2024 – Frequency Exchange Corp. (“Frequency Exchange” or the “Company”) (TSXV: FREQ; OTC: FRECF) is pleased to announce it has officially launched its NIKKI Wellness Technology (“NIKKI”) on e-health platform GetHealthy.Store’s virtual catalogue. GetHealthy.Store is a unique online portal that allows health practitioners to prescribe products to patients directly via the platform’s 1,000+ “Virtual Clinic Stores”.

The launch of NIKKI into GetHealthy.Store clinics is part of an agreement (the “Agreement”) between Frequency Exchange’s wholly owned subsidiary, FREmedica Technologies Inc., (“FREmedica”) and GetHealthy.Store, first announced in a press release dated August 26, 2024.

Per the Agreement, FREmedica has launched its NIKKI Wellness Technology, a wearable that harnesses the power of bioenergetics for health and wellbeing (pictured below), on GetHealthy.Store’s catalogue, which features 350+ health product brands encompassing 7000+ products. These brands and products are available through GetHealthy.Store’s 1,000+ Virtual Clinic Stores which are currently used by more than 2,500 health practitioners across the United States.

Through GetHealthy.Store, doctors will be able to prescribe NIKKI along with individually tailored Wellness Programs to patients directly. General consumers and practitioner patients will also be able to purchase NIKKI through practitioner stores built on GetHealthy.Store’s platform, and will have access to general Wellness Programs for sleep improvement, pain-relief, anxiety reduction, and energy boosting.

Per the terms of the Agreement, GetHealthy.Store will be responsible for central distribution and product fulfillment for all NIKKI sales in the USA and 25 additional countries, as well as customer service, supply chain management, and all sales and marketing. The Agreement allows FREmedica to scale quickly and seamlessly in the event of rising sales demand, enabling it to supply up to 1,000,000 NIKKI devices every 90-120 days.

FREmedica will also have the option to pursue co-branding and co-marketing opportunities with other companies featured on GetHealthy.Store’s catalogue, for example with supplement companies whose products will complement NIKKI’s unique Wellness Technology.

Frequency Exchange Founder and CEO Stephen Davis discussed NIKKI and the role of frequency therapy in holistic health in the latest episode of the Holistic Growth Podcast: Navigating Business in Natural Health and Functional Medicine with host Dr. Tracey Stroup, ND, Chief Health & Growth Officer at GetHealthy.Store. NIKKI truly is the first and only technology that enables individuals to harness the power of bioenergetics easily and conveniently, as part of their daily routine. We can’t wait for more people to discover how NIKKI can complement both holistic and western medicine to promote healing and improve overall wellbeing.”*
